REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. This is an Examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. The closest prior art Kenney U.S. pat. No. 6,026,376 discloses a product configuration display system. JP410097648A, Lauzon, Laurent discloses a method for updating 3D object display, computer execution system for correcting visual characteristic of 3D object.

However, Park Samuel H. et al US 20440113945, filed on 12/12/2002 discloses a graphical user interface (GUI) for use with a product specification computer program for specifying complex highly configurable products. The GUI provides for simultaneously displaying, navigating, selecting and assembling of complex objects/products and configuration thereof into a design layout using a multi-pane display. Unfortunately, the Examiner cannot use this prior art because Applicant's claimed invention has a priority date 02/16/1999.

Neither Kenney nor Lauzon singularly or in combination discloses the recited feature:

As per claims 1, 28, and 67 "a product display module operably connected to said storage media and configured to execute in said data center, said product display module including a definition of a product display screen accessible by said buyer terminal, said product display module configured to receive a request to change a product presentation through said product display screen, said request comprising a user-selected alteration of an physical product exterior/interior option, said product display module configured to display the changed product presentation comprising said user-selected alteration of a physical product exterior/interior option in said product display screen by modifying said definition of the product display screen wherein the
